2 Truk Disaster Stuns Japs; 2 Chiefs Fired

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Feb. 21 (AP)—Nineteen Japanese ships sunk, at least 201 planes destroyed and terrific damage to land installations was the score today in the United States Pacific fleet raid on Truk, the enemy's primary base in the Central Pacific.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the fleet, told the story of destruction wrought by carrier planes in the raid Wednesday and Thursday, and called it a "partial settlement" of the debt owed Japan for the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

Nimitz made no mention of troop landings at Truk, as the Tokyo radio announced, but said his airmen sank the following ships: Two light cruisers, three destroyers, one ammunition ship, one seaplane tender, two oilers, two gunboats and eight cargo ships.

One cruiser or large destroyer, two oilers and four cargo ships were listed as probably sunk. American fliers shot down 127 enemy aircraft in combat and destroyed 74 more on the ground. More than 50 additional Japanese planes were damaged before they could take to the air.

The attackers lost 17 planes and sustained "moderate damage" to one surface ship, which Nimitz did not identify.

There was no air opposition the second day of the attack, Nimitz said. This testified to the great strength and accuracy of the first day attack which eliminated the enemy's airforce from action.

It also hinted at great damage to the drydock and ship repair yards, air strips, gun positions, supply dumps and other installations of the big base.

"Shore facilities on the principal islands, including airdrome runways and installations, were thoroughly bombed and strafed," the communiqué said.

The Japanese during the one hour and 55-minute aerial hammering given Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, put 18 American warships out of action, including eight battleships, destroyed 177 Army and Navy planes and the killed, wounded and missing totaled more than 3000.

Of the battleships, only one, the Arizona, was a total loss. Several of the others hit that day may have been among the big ships which protected the carriers on

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Tokyo radio acknowledged today that Japan had suffered heavy losses in the American attack on her great naval base at Truk and announced simultaneously that both the chiefs of the Japanese army and navy general staffs had been relieved of their posts.

Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo, a broadcast said, has personally assumed the role of chief of the army general staff in a sweeping shakeup that seemed to be a direct result of the American assault, described earlier by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, as "partial settlement" for the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

In a short wave broadcast to the United States, the Tokyo radio quoted an Imperial headquarters communiqué as acknowledging the attack on Truk had cost the Japanese two cruisers, three destroyers, 13 transports and 120 planes. The communiqué acknowledged that in addition some damages were incurred among the land installations.

RELIEVED OF POST
Another broadcast quoted an announcement of the navy ministry as saying that Fleet Admiral Osami Nagano, chief of the Japanese navy's general staff, had been "relieved of his post."

The announcement added that Emperor Hirohito had named Admiral Shigetaro Shimada, navy minister, to serve concurrently as chief of the naval general staff.

At the same time, the Tokyo radio said, the Japanese war ministry announced that Field Marshal Gen. Sugiyama had been relieved of his post as chief of the army general staff, Premier Tojo taking over.

A later Domei broadcast said Sugiyama and Nagano "will hereafter act as highest military advisers to His Majesty the Emperor remaining in the board of field marshals and fleet admirals."

Domei, official Japanese news agency, said that Emperor Hirohito had personally installed Premier Tojo in his new post as army chief of staff. Tojo also has been serving as war minister, head of the munitions industry, minister of commerce and industry and minister of education.

CLAIM SINKINGS
Domei also announced that Gen. Atsushi Ushiroku had been appointed vice-chief of the army general staff, "concurrently assuming the post war counselor." Lieut. Gen. Shojiro Iida was named commander-in-chief of the army central district headquarters.

The Imperial headquarters communiqué asserted that Japanese army and navy forces in the Truk group had sunk two American cruisers and damaged an aircraft carrier and one unidentified warship.

Tokyo also declared that more than 54 American planes had been shot down.

The Truk raid. Naval units in the attack were commanded by Rear Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, who commanded the aircraft carrier Hornet, from which Maj. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle's planes were launched for the attack on Tokyo, April 18, 1942. The whole operation was under the direction of Vice Adm. R. A. Spruance.

U. S. Trap Closing On Eniwetok Japs

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Feb. 21 (AP)—Moving swiftly to close their death trap on Japanese defenders of the westernmost atoll in the Marshall islands, U. S. infantry and marine troops now are driving the enemy from Eniwetok island.

In a new landing yesterday, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said, seizers half of the 6000-yard long island.

Casualties continued light, said Adm. Nimitz, who previously disclosed the capture of Engebil island and its strategic airport.

RAF Rips Stuttgart After Big U. S. Raid

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The RAF dealt a great blow to Germany last night, the third in 36 industrial metropolises of Stuttgart assault yesterday on Nazi air-plant factories by 2000 American heavy bombers and fighters and a Saturday night British strike at Leipzig.

An air ministry communiqué said the attack on Stuttgart was in great strength and that intense fires were left burning among factories of the city after thousands of tons of explosives had been dropped.

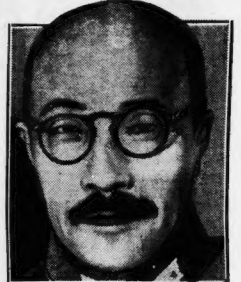

The main attack on Stuttgart was masked by a Mosquito feint at the Nazi party shrine of Munich, 100 miles to the southeast. British losses were 10 aircraft.

These manifold assaults lifted the air war against Germany to a new pitch in a week-end highlighted by the devastating, widespread and many-pronged American

Allies in 2-Mile Thrust at Anzio

By KENNETH L. DIXON

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, Feb. 21 (AP)—American and British forces have stopped a supreme effort by densely-packed German troops to wipe out the Anzio

Italian actions. Nine of these facing the beachhead are commanded by Gen. Von Mackensen, son of the World War I general. Bulk of the remaining divisions stand on the main Fifth Army front behind Cassino defenses. The Germans had managed to punch some 4000 yards below Carroceto before their beachhead advance was hurled back with heavy casualties.

Some of the 700 captured Nazis said one German regiment alone had lost 60 per cent of its strength. Allied air operations yesterday were devoted almost exclusively to attacks on the broken German beachhead lines. The Allies sent 900 sorties into the air, the Germans sent up an estimated 100, and the sky battles and attacks were rapidly rising to a record peak when weather limited further forays.

No major developments occurred yesterday in the Fifth Army's Cassino front although French forces repulsed an enemy raid northeast of Terelle. American troops held fast to their positions in Cassino itself. Patrols were active on the Eighth Army front.

Intensity of the enemy efforts was demonstrated by appearance of elements of five regiments in one 1000-yard area. Six enemy divisions took part in the assault, three others were in reserve.

The Germans are steadily swelling their armies in Italy and now have 18 divisions involved in the

Reds Roll on Pskov; Launch Minsk Drive

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Russians continued to roll toward the Baltic gateway of Pskov today, while in the south, a Berlin broadcast said, the Red army had thrown 100,000 more men into a powerful new push toward Minsk.

A Soviet communiqué announced that 114 villages were captured in the drive for Pskov, with more than 2200 Germans killed in advances of two to 12 miles through snowstorms. Three points, each within 30 miles of Dno, a rail junction 60 miles east of Pskov, were taken.

A Berlin broadcast also said that Russians in the Ukraine had launched a furious assault toward Krivoriog, last big ore city held by the Germans in the Dnieper Bend.

Berlin broadcasts still maintained that Nazi troops which were encircled at Korsun, 25 miles below the middle Dnieper river, had escaped the death trap through the aid of German armor and infantry. The Russians have announced the capture of the trap, with 73,200 Germans killed or captured.

Russian dispatches said Friday night's heavy Soviet air raid against Pskov had thrown Axis transportation facilities at the vital base into confusion.

Two Women May Hold Key To Pit Murder

Police today pinned their hopes on two women to aid them in solving the murder of Mrs. Mary O'Hearn, 49, of Shawmut ave., South End, whose battered, unclad body was found in a cellar excavation near her home.

A waitress in a South End cafe furnished police a description of a man with whom she was seen in the cafe the night she was murdered. She described him wearing a brown short jacket, a cap and no overcoat.

Earlier that evening Anna Dutton, 45, of Albion st., R. J. O'Hearn South End, was badly beaten by a man answering that description.

Both women will look over all suspects taken into custody in connection with the case.

Police fixed the approximate time of the slaying of Mrs. O'Hearn as shortly after midnight. A small pet dog named Blackie, which had accompanied her to the cafe, and left with her, returned home alone and was admitted to the house at 1 a. m. Saturday by the victim's husband, Roderick J. O'Hearn.

Authorities believe Mrs. O'Hearn had been slain a short time previously and that the dog had run home during her struggle with the killer.

A witness was also brought into the Warren ave. station who said he saw a man with Mrs. O'Hearn, whom he knew, on Acton st., near the scene of the crime, just before midnight.

According to a waitress in the cafe, it was nearly midnight when Mrs. O'Hearn, accompanied by her dog and a man, left the place after requesting that a taxi be called.

Mrs. O'Hearn's companion is described as about six feet tall, slim built and stoop-shouldered and weighing about 150 pounds. He is about 45 years old and at the time was attired in a dark brown jacket coat and a cap and carried a bundle. Mrs. O'Hearn identified him to one of the waitresses as "an old friend."

Good Chef Top Kick in Army

By AUSTEN LAKE

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (by transport mail)—You jeep to the "top of the town," till you come to the old Runic Cross where the tavern sign says, "The Golden Goose," and go up a winding incline toward summits gilded with the sun. It was eerie coming from the lower, fog-gloomed levels where the world is a flat twilight gray, and suddenly zooming into golden sunshine where the air is crystal clear and the colors bright.

The sensation was that of a man released from a dark dungeon into the warm tides of midday, feeling an instant expansion of spirit. Man needs the sun!

Looking backward at the sea of dusky clouds which filled the valleys, one felt sorry for the soldiers who still wallowed in that turgid limbo where everything drips and nothing dries. But there were soldiers up here too, a good jeep's run along the plateau's spine, and living in modern barracks that resemble a colonial style. New England college with fraternity chapter houses. It's the luck of billeting—like the luck in the skill of company mess sergeants. Some get good ones, some don't!

And when it comes to army food—and one-third of a soldier's talk centers on that topic—there are a couple of New England career cooks in this highland barracks, where I spent most of today, who hit Truth on the sweet pot.

Good and Bad Cooks

That would be Corp. Ray Barnaby of 65 Bedard st., Fall River, who used to dish it up for the Taunton State Hospital and, incredibly, plays the piano, banjo, guitar and, harmonica and claims, with doubtful pride, that he is the senior-draftee of his outfit (Jan. 10, 1941). And the other, his long-time pal, is Corp. Armand A. Trudel of 131 Pawtucket st., Lowell, 11th of Mrs. Cesarine Trudel's nineteen (19) children.

"The difference in one mess from another," says Barnaby, "is in each cook's degree of interest in his food. Every mess gets the same basic ration—but not every mess gives its men the same grub." And s'trooth, s'weip me. For it's no trick to hatchet the top of a can of Spam and serve it in cold waters—as some do!

Yet the other day, when I stopped at a roadside mess, the boys ate croquettes cunningly compounded of bread crumbs mixed with shredded—yes! Spam, fried in deep fat and covered with pan gravy. The boys gobbled it, never recognizing their culinary foe.

Finding New Englanders in this sector is like fishing for tadpoles under a rock. You find 'em in unlikely places, like the railway postoffice, where I found Pvt. James F. O'Connor of Leicester st., Brighton, him as used to be

4 Set for Stiff Vet Aid Battle How to Shop With Tokens

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, MONDAY, FEB. 21, 1944

By FRANK REILLY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Supporters of the American Legion's measure providing rehabilitation for veterans of World War II girded today for a showdown struggle against the same general group which operated against the vets' mustering out pay bill.

Determined to smoke out the perpetrators of what appears to be underground sabotage of the so-called "Bill of Rights for GI Joe and GI Jane," legionnaires were aroused to a fighting pitch.

WOUNDED VETS DUE

Due here today to put pressure on the two congressional committees which both failed to act on the bill last week is John Stelle, former Governor of Illinois, who was a member of the Legion committee that drafted the rehabilitation program.

Also scheduled to make their appearance are wounded veterans of World War II, now patients at the Walter Reed Hospital here, who will be escorted to the Capitol by members of Vincent B. Costello Post, A. L., of Washington. The wounded veterans will call on members of Congress from their home sections and urge them to pass the Legion bill.

So serious is the situation that National Comdr. Warren H. Atherton is going to cut short his speaking engagements and return to this city the end of the week to give the matter his personal attention.

BEFORE TWO COMMITTEES

Jack Cejnar, national publicity director of the Legion, is here to keep 300 Legion publications informed of the attitude of House and Senate members from their own states. Cejnar has approved the suggestion of Cong. Louis J. Capozzoli of New York that parents of servicemen and women devote Washington's Birthday to soliciting their neighbors to write letters to Congress urging immediate passage of the bill.

Word has also been sent to all Legion state commanders urging their co-operation in this move.

The two committees that have the bill before them are a subcommittee of the Senate committee on finance, which was expected to have reported out the measure by the end of last week, and the House committee on World War veterans' legislation which didn't meet at all.

Vets to Get Quick Action

A new Veterans' Administration office designed to adjudicate claims promptly will open in Boston within the next few weeks, according to Edward T. Mulken, Veterans Administration official.

Claims will be settled within "a matter of days" under the new system, Mulken states, and circuitous routes which often delayed claim payments will be eliminated. In a speech before the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense at the Parker House, Mulken stated:

"Under this new system veterans should have their first check in payment of claims within a month after their discharge."

Cambridge Girl, 19, Missing in Boston

Police today were asked to seek 19-year-old Geraldine D. Boudreau, 14 Norman st., Cambridge, reported missing by her mother, Mrs. Arthur M. Boudreau.

Mrs. Boudreau said her daughter left home yesterday afternoon to go to a movie in Boston and never returned. A neighbor saw her coming out of a Boston theater alone at 10 p. m. The neighbor said Geraldine told her she was going to a restaurant before returning home. A defense worker, the girl had only about $3 with her when she left home.

Hold Harvard Man for Treason

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 21 (AP)—A Harvard-educated American soldier and two German prisoners of war whom he allegedly helped to escape from Camp Hale, Col., were questioned today by federal agents in an attempt to learn where funds were obtained for their flight across the border.

The soldier, Pfc. Dale H. Maple, 23, Middletown, R. I., who FBI Agent D. A. Bryce said has openly admitted Nazi sympathies, was held in lieu of $100,000 bond on a treason charge.

His two companions, Henrich Kikillus, 32, and Erhard Schwichtenberg, 24, were held as witnesses. The case will be presented to a Santa Fe federal grand jury March 6.

Maple's case is perhaps the first in the history of the United States in which an American soldier has been accused of treason in time of war. Conviction of treason is punishable by sentence of from five years in prison and a $10,000 fine to death.

Brighton police today sought the "hugger" assailant of Miss Rose Marie Burke, 22, of Imbrie rd., Brighton, who fled after tearing the coat collar from the girl in a vigorous struggle near her home.

Mansfield Quizzed On Liking of Curley

Counsel in Cong. James M. Curley's $500,000 suit against the Curtis Publishing Co. sought to learn today in federal court if former Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield, a political rival, liked or disliked Curley, but all to little avail.

After the jury had been excused an dthen brought back again, Mansfield said of Curley:

"I don't know him very well."

Curley's suit is based on certain statements in a Saturday Evening Post article of Oct. 4, 1941, "The Cardinal and Cold Roast Boston," which the former mayor and governor alleges were untruthful and harmful to him.

DAUGHTER IN COURT

Seated in court today with the plaintiff was his only daughter, Mrs. Mary Curley Donnelly, and for a time before Mansfield resumed the stand for a brief appearance, the Curleys sat directly behind him.

Mansfield, who testified he became legal counselor for the Catholic archdiocese five or six years ago, after the death of Henry V. Cunningham, was questioned regarding his relations with Cardinal O'Connell.

One allegation in the suit is that the Saturday Evening Post article falsely declared the Cardinal to be unfriendly in opposition to Curley.

A book purportedly given by the Cardinal to Curley was displayed to Mansfield today by Curley's counsel, Wendell P. Murray, and the witness was asked to note the inscription, in handwriting, from the prelate.

"That looks like the Cardinal's signature," Mansfield testified, "but the ones I saw always had Wm. Card. O'Connell. This one is written out."

Mansfield was asked if there was a significance in the fact that the St. Thomas More Chapel, constructed around June 1, 1935, by the Cardinal was erected in downtown Franklin st.

"As far as I know," he replied, "many years ago the Cathedral of the Holy Cross was situated in Franklin st., but not on this site."

Cahill's Nephew Nazi Prisoner

Lieut.-Gov. Cahill today was notified his nephew, Lieut. Arthur Lenahan, Army Air Forces, reported missing after a bombing raid, is a prisoner in a Nazi camp. The Army listed him as missing Jan. 11.

Lieut. Lenahan's mother, Mrs. Harry G. Lenahan, formerly of South Boston, now residing in Vallejo, Cal., wired the news to Cahill.

Can This Be California?

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21 (INS)—A soaked, shivering Los Angeles, hit by its worst winter storm since two inches of snow fell in January, 1932, looked forward today to still more rain or hail.

Two inches of hail fell yesterday. In 24 hours 4.80 inches of rain were recorded.

To this "unusual" Southern California weather was added a terrific thunderstorm.

Streets were flooded and 30 street cars and scores of automobiles were stalled.

An air raid siren snorted and screamed for 30 minutes to add confusion to the storm-swept metropolis. Many power shortages were reported.

All street cars between Long Beach, San Pedro and Los Angeles were tied up for a half hour when lightning struck a power line.

Nearly all of the mountain roads in southern California were closed by snow, including the Ridge Route, Tehachapi highway and Cajon Pass.

Pleads Innocent To Lynn Murder

Charged with the murder of a man who was to have been a bridegroom yesterday, Charles R. O'Connor, 44, medically-discharged war veteran, of Chestnut st., Lynn, pleaded innocent today in Lynn court and was held without bail for a hearing Feb. 29.

Mrs. Melvina Snell, 43-year-old widow, of Snell pl., Lynn, was to have been the bride, but she pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness yesterday and was held in $1000 as a material witness.

According to the charge, O'Connor fatally bludgeoned Christopher Curley, 52, in Mrs. Snell's home with an iron pipe last Saturday, during a quarrel over her affections.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AND OONA O'NEILL CHAPLIN
Comedian Faces Court After Wife Reveals Baby Expected

Chaplin to Be Dad 4th Time in August

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21 (AP)—This is an eventful winter for Charlie Chaplin, the little English funnyman.

All wound up in a criminal and civil legal snarl involving his associations with his former protegee, 23-year-old Joan Barry, the 54-year-old actor, next August will become a father for the fourth time.

The expectant mother is his fourth bride, Oona Chaplin, 18, daughter of Playwright Eugene O'Neill and New York debutante of 1942.

MIDDLE OF AUGUST

"Yes, I am expecting a baby," she told newsmen. "It will happen about the middle of August, my doctors tell me. Yes, I am very happy about it. No, Mr. Chaplin has no comment."

Chaplin's first child, daughter of his first wife, Mildred Harris, died a few days after birth. Years later his second wife, the former Lita Grey, bore him two sons, Charles, Jr., now in the U. S. Army, and Sydney.

Oona and Chaplin eloped to Santa Barbara County and were married last June 16, just two weeks after Miss Barry had sued the actor on allegations that he was the father of her child, then unborn.

Speaking of the legal turmoil swirling about Charlie's snowy head, Miss O'Neill said at that time:

"I love him, and my place is with him. I know he is innocent of these accusations."

DENIAL SUPPORTED

Charlie's denial of Miss Barry's paternity charge was supported last week when a board of three physicians made blood tests and reported the conclusion that Chaplin was not the father of the girl's baby, Carol Ann, now 4 months old.

The criminal allegations stand, however, and today Charlie goes to federal court for arraignment on grand jury indictments charging Mann act violations involving Miss Barry and conspiracy with six others to deprive her of her constitutional rights.

Crackup of 8 More Liberty Ships Denied

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—A. C. Kerr, regional director of the U. S. War Shipping Administration, today described as absolutely untrue reports published in the United States eight Liberty ships had recently cracked up in the Atlantic and limped back to Britain for repairs.

(On Jan. 4, the Senate war investigating committee ordered an investigation of possible faults reported to have caused some Liberty ships to break apart. Chairman Truman (D.) of Missouri, said he acted after receiving reports from Sen. Wallgren (D.) of Washington of the alleged defects.)

Three Children Rescued in Malden Fire

Three small children, including a 19-month-old namesake of Gen. MacArthur, were carried down ladders from the second floor after flames from a fire at 1-3 Coleman st., Malden, blocked stairway egress this morning.

The father, William A. MacArthur, whose leg was in a cast as the result of a fracture, made his way down the ladder with his wife, following the firemen rescuers of their children.

Douglas MacArthur, the baby, was carried to safety by Fireman Harry L. Pearce. Harold R. Leather, another firefighter, went down the ladder with Russell, three and Richard, six.

The blaze was discovered in the basement of the two-story wooden house by Mrs. Helen Davidson, 24, first floor tenant, who roused the MacArthurs and took out her three children. They are James, 5; Carl, 3, and Robert, 2.

Firemen from Melrose, Everett and Revere responded to a second alarm, sounded because the dwelling is close to the Browne junior high school. Damage was estimated at $1500 by Deputy Fire Chief Lorin A. Keddie.

Aptt, Liquor Thief, Flees Asylum as Court Waits

With the opening of Suffolk Superior Court today, astonished prosecutors learned that Harold Aptt, notorious criminal and ex-convict, would not be present for sentencing as scheduled because he had escaped Thursday from the Boston State Hospital, Mattapan.

Aptt, whose record includes previous escapes from a hospital and a jail, was due to be sentenced for a series of liquor robberies.

He had pleaded guilty last month, but over over reported opposition from the district attorney's office he had been sent to the hospital for observation pending sentence. The court had sent him there on the basis of a state psychiatrist's examination.

HAD PLEADED GUILTY

Aptt put a crimp in the court schedule today by walking away from the hospital at 9:20 Thursday night.

The police teletype today, warning of his flight, did not divulge it was known he had escaped. Aptt was described merely as "missing." One police spokesman explained this was because "patients sometimes walk away from the hospital, but often return."

Those acquainted with Aptt's record were of the opinion that he would not be among those who return voluntarily.

He was due for sentencing in liquor and tavern breaks which brought $10,000 to him and his gang over a year. Aptt had pleaded guilty.

OTHER MEN INVOLVED

For purposes of robbery, it had been testified, the ex-convict took jobs as a piano player at cafes and taverns. He would learn where liquor was stored and direct its theft by a gang of at least five other men.

His co-defendants included Edward Miller and Frank Soper, who lived with him in Lawrence st., South End, whose cases were up for disposition today. Other defendants are Frank Wolseley, Harold Gorham and Joseph Fantia.

Aptt, whose crime career began in 1917, escaped from the state hospital at Rutland in 1925 and from Worcester jail two years later. His arrests have included charges of larceny, lewdness, abuse of a female child, breaking and entering in the night time and robbery.

2 Die, 2 Burned In Fire Series

One person was in critical condition, another was recuperating, and two persons lay dead today as the result of a series of fires.

Tending a furnace in a Summer st., Lynn, block, Yuleti Barnard, 44, of Blossom st., Lynn, was fatally burned when his clothing caught fire.

Burns received when she fell asleep while smoking in bed in Hotel Continental, Worcester, caused the death of Mrs. Frances P. Howard, of Worcester, mother of two Navy sons.

Mrs. Gertrude Egan, 36, of Kent st., Brookline, is in critical condition at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital with burns suffered when her clothing caught fire. Her husband, William E. Egan is also under treatment for burns suffered when he tried to beat out the flames.

6 Saved From Fire In Brighton Home

Two children were carried to safety over ladders by firemen and four women aided to the street in a fire in a Lanark rd., Brighton, dwelling early today. Damage was set at $2000.

The rescued children were Judith, six, and Agnes, 4, daughters of Mrs. Gertrude Hibble.

Their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Hattie Hibble, and Miss Rebecca Tuschin and her brother, Morris, were helped to the street.

ELY CONTEST AGAINST F. D. STIRS 'POL'S'

The nation's political spotlight is today focussed on former Gov. Joseph B. Ely as the only presidential candidate in Democratic ranks openly opposed to 16 years in the White House.

Ely has no illusions as to his chances against the President. He made it plain he allowed his name to be used for circulation of nomination papers for Elypledged district delegates so that Massachusetts voters could "get a chance to express themselves."

"Everyone knows my position," he said. "I don't believe in a fourth term; I didn't believe in a third term. I'm a Jeffersonian Democrat and I can't change."

Ely said the fact he allowed the use of his name for primary balloting might give the understanding that he is a candidate for President, but added it certainly isn't his interpretation.

Joseph Lee and Charles H. McGuire, who are back of the Ely candidacy, said a primary victory for their anti-Administration slate would pledge 28 of the state delegation's 34 votes for Ely.

Quincy Girl, 4, Felled By Bus, Critically Hurt

Four-year-old Ellen F. Lutes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lutes, of Water st., Quincy, was in critical condition at Quincy City Hospital today with injuries suffered when struck by a bus near her home.

Sabotage Denied in Greater Boston Fires
 Possibility that the large number of fires which have occurred in Greater Boston lately were due to sabotage is seen as unlikely today following a report by State Fire Marshal Edward Whittemore that a probe had uncovered no evidence to that effect.

Solons Hit Lower Draft Age in Army

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Flatly rejecting suggestions that the draft age be lowered from 18 to 17, members of the House military committee called today for better utilization of existing manpower men, many of them pre-war fathers, on its civilian payroll and has not asked for their deferment. "If there are that many men in a single government agency then our manpower situation isn't so bad; it just isn't being handled properly," he added.

Allies Sink 3 in Aegean
 CAIRO, Feb. 21 (AP)—Middle East Beaufighters and American Mitchells sank three supply ships at Port Nios and near Kalymnos island in operations over the Aegean yesterday, a Middle East communique announced today.

Both May and Rep. Harness of Indiana, a high ranking Republican member of the committee, said they could see no reason to drop the minimum induction age below 18, as has been suggested recently in some quarters. Harness claimed the War Department alone has admitted it has about 100,000 draft eligible

Our Tribute to Washington

"The satisfaction I have in any successes . . . is always allayed by a fear that it will lull us into security. Supineness and a disposition to flatter ourselves seem to make parts of our national character . . . when we do gain any little advantage, we imagine it decisive and expect the war immediately to end . . ."

★ Our weekly Liberty Overseas Edition brings news from home to every front.

★ $11,588,500 in War Bonds sold at our "Unconquerables" dinner. A national record . . . for which we thank all who so unselfishly worked with us to make it possible!

For eight years, Washington fought not only the troops of George III—but shrinking finances to feed and clothe and equip his men. He battled an enemy and struggled against the despair of his men and the overconfidence of the civilians . . . attacked the foe, and the lethargy of his countrymen too . . . and as late as 1780, wrote the words we have quoted above. That was our first War. Down through the centuries since, his counsel speaks strong and clear to us in this one. On this day, we thus report to him—to you—not what we have done, but what we view as our beginning . . . a mark set, simply, that we may better it . . . a tribute to Washington in a lesson learned—that eternal vigilance is not only the price of Liberty, but of Victory!

Mr. Morgan Dennis

New York 3, New York
Dear Mr. Dennis:

We acknowledge with much pleasure the enlistment of the Hanley's Ale Bull Dog Pup in the War Dog Fund. To his owners, many thanks for enrolling him, and to the pup himself, glad to have you with us!

Although the pup can't go to war himself, through his contribution he is assisting Dogs for Defense in procuring for the Armed Forces of the United States the many dogs they require to bring to a successful conclusion at an early date the war in which we are all engaged.

Many people own dogs not of the breeds, size, and weight to meet the requirements of the Armed Forces. These dog owners have been delighted to find that through the War Dog Fund of Dogs for Defense, Inc. their dogs may do their bit by contributing to the procurement of war dogs.

You have been interested in our work from the beginning, we are appreciative of that interest and may we express our thanks therefor. With kindest regards, I am

Very sincerely,
A. M. Lewis

Religious Tolerance Urged by Veterans

America's fighting men can't understand "why religious bigotry and intolerance sometimes exist on the homefront."

This was the Brotherhood Week message which wounded war veterans and a trio of inter-faith chaplains expressed in a broadcast sponsored by the Massachusetts Committee of Catholics, Protestants and Jews.

Relating the story of a dangerous net-cutting mission under enemy fire in the Cebu River, Fred Arsenault, shipfitter, 1/c, of Lexington, said "those of us who did that job didn't wonder or worry what was the religion of the others."

"When you are sharing a fox-hole with another man—a man on whom your life may depend—you don't care much what his religion is," declared Marine Pfc. Joseph Parker, veteran of the Solomons.

Lieut. William Babb, Navy chaplain who was present at the battle of Tarawa, told how he assisted Jewish men in celebrating the Passover festival, conducted Sunday services for Catholics, and prepared for a Protestant chaplain from another ship to hold Sunday services on his ship.

Lieut. Charles E. Shulman, Navy chaplain at Newport, R. I., said that "the Navy personnel, both enlisted men and officers, show in their conduct toward each other that they recognize the Golden Rule as a truly basic pattern of democracy."

Paper, Tin Drive Put Up to Pupils

As the February collection of waste paper and scrap tin got under way in Boston today, salvage officials announced they are banking on school pupils—out on vacation this week—to make this the most successful drive the city has yet seen.

Salvage Director George G. Hyland said that proceeds obtained from the paper salvage would be turned over to the Red Cross.

"Boys and girls of Boston have an opportunity to do a real job, to back up their brothers and fathers on the fighting fronts," he declared. "I am asking them to gather old newspapers, wrapping paper, corrugated cardboard and paper bags. Bundle them separately and put them out for the salvage trucks on sidewalks before 10 a. m.

Key Figure of Irish Civil Conflict Dies

DUBLIN, Feb. 21 (AP)—Col. J. J. O'Connell, 56, central figure in an incident which touched off the Irish civil war in 1922, died at his home in Dublin after a brief illness.

In 1922 O'Connell was captured by irregulars and imprisoned in a building. The regular army issued an ultimatum that unless O'Connell was released the building would be shelled. The ultimatum was ignored and the shelling was carried out, starting the civil conflict.

10 Russians Take Slap at Turks

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, MONDAY, FEB. 21, 1944

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The sharpest comment on the Turkish government to come from Moscow recently was voiced in a Tass broadcast from Moscow today which said German propagandists were intensifying their activity and that their efforts were "facilitated by Turkish official circles."

The dispatch listed several Nazi propagandists who recently visited Turkey and said their efforts were being directed at strengthening relations between Propaganda Minister Goebbels' organization and the Turkish press.

The Tass broadcast followed a recent article in the Soviet magazine War and the Working Class which called special attention to Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, as one working to divide the Allies.

Churchill Views Ruins of Air Raid

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Nazi air raiders scattered incendiaries and explosives over London in a short but fierce attack last night which set fires in many areas and caused some casualties.

Prime Minister Churchill today inspected the damaged areas and in response to cheers from hundreds of office workers waved with the V-sign and shouted "It's quite like old times again."

With his cigar at a jaunty angle, Churchill poked through the rubble and chatted with workers cleaning up the area.

When word of his presence spread, clerks on their lunch hour left their sandwiches and surged into the street, causing a traffic jam.

Nazis Arrest Cardinal

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—August Cardinal Hlond, Catholic archbishop of Poland, was arrested recently by the Germans in Paris, apparently because of his extreme anti-Nazi views, private information reaching London said today.

Loss of Auxiliaries Heavy Blow to Japs

By CHARLES McMURTRY

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Feb. 21 (AP)—Don't underestimate the damage inflicted on the Japanese fleet at Truk.

It may seem disappointing that the U. S. carrier forces which sank 19 ships there and probably finished off seven more didn't include Japanese carriers and battleships in their toll.

But the heaviest units of the enemy fleet, believed to have been anchored at Etten harbor inside the Truk lagoon at various times in the past, apparently had been ordered elsewhere.

Sinking of cruisers, destroyers, oilers, cargo ships and other auxiliaries doesn't make nearly as sensational reading as the destruction of the more potent carriers and battleships.

Remember, however, a fleet can't operate without these auxiliaries. Destruction of two Japanese oilers and probable sinking of two others deprives the Japanese battle fleet in the Central Pacific of its most important auxiliaries. Without oilers available to accompany and refuel them, warships can't remain at sea more than a week.

Destruction of eight, possibly 12 cargo ships strikes at the vital source of supplies not only for

of trout in a wayside brook—came from the garrison where the combined co-operation of the sergeant-major, the adjutant and the regimental chaplain produced 14 men, excused from drill and fatigue to "goldbrick" with the writer.

There was John "Murphy" Karamourtopoulis (and try that on your concertina) of 75 Concord st., Lawrence, who played football for Mark Devlin in '34, managed a Lawrence peanut store and whose good mother, Joyce, runs a kind of one-woman clipping bureau to post him on the latest news.

And Sergt. Kon F. Pollock of 182 Sylvan st., Malden, who was aide to his dad, Archie E., in the home town "Y's" physical department and is trying to interest the hard worked soldiery in a local gym. And Pasquale "Pat" J. Cammorata of 308 Chelsea st., East Boston, who used to mix sweet Clara, are both weavers, too. And Kenneth A. Rollins of 84 Ver-nol st., Everett, a mechanic, who dreams of pre-war rendezvous at the Shirley Club with Agnes Paproski.

Like most garrisoned soldiers in England the men see periodical movies. "Tarzan's New York Adventures" was the latest. They abhor war pictures or anything of the "gun powder nero" type, preferring "cheese-cake" flickers, or the girl-operas of the Betty Grable sort.

To these chalm-ratoned men the distaff side holds an hypnotic appeal somewhat as the mirage of a cold water well fascinates thirsty desert travelers—and that's fancy language for the simple statement that these "guys miss their gals."

Most of them have been in this man's army bordering three years, such as Corp. Jim Ward of 33 Lawn st., Roxbury, 20, of whose family the service has made a clean sweep—brother John in the Pacific Army and brother Joe in the Navy.

And Pvt. Charles M. Rogers of 58 Pinkney st., Somerville, a cannoneer who'd like Christine Phillips to send some chewing gum. And Pvt. Roger L. Coriveau of 49-A Brookfield st., Lawrence, an "ammo carrier" who helped his father run the family grocery and sends salutations to Elizabeth Vigneault of Worcester and word to his octogenarian grandfather, Napoleon, "not to worry."

And Pvt. Will J. Thompson of 8 Whitman st., Lawrence, a maintenance mechanic, who tells his sister, Mrs. Edna V. Richards, he's "not suffering any." It was a good get-together. Tonight the writer is miles along the road in a regimental outpost.

40 years ago a Buffalo druggist created an ointment for relief from the itching and smarting of Piles. It brought such quick cooling, soothing, astringent relief that its fame spread throughout the country, and made Peterson's Ointment a favorite in thousands of homes. Ask your druggist for a 35c box of Peterson's Ointment today, or 60c tube with applicator. Money back if you are not delighted with relief.

12 Finn Term Bare Grim Design Of Stalin Says Von Wiegand

KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Dei America War Correspondent

Soviet-Russia, triumphant war and in diplomacy, foreshadows the grim and naked "shape of things to come" on continent of Europe, in her unashamed terms of peace to lit the Finland.

Joseph Stalin, Asiatic tartar from Georgia, has spoken that all who hear or see or read may understand.

In effect and in aim, the Soviet terms to Helsinki mean the annihilation of that heroic little nation.

Only a few years ago little Finland was acclaimed to the skies for its being the only nation that honored and paid its war debts. Admiration knew no bounds when the small Finn army defeated Josef Stalin's Red army.

REMEMBERS DEFEAT

Stalin never forgot that humiliation of the Red army by the pigmy Finland.

And that was in 1939—only five years back.

Now Stalin will have his revenge. Now that little republic of a very free and independent people will be practically annihilated and, incorporated in the vast realm of communist Soviet-Russia.

He is endeavoring to bring Stalin is driving for the "open" Finland to the borders of Sweden and Norway.

PERFECT OPPORTUNITY

Not in centuries may masters of Russia again have the opening and the opportunity that now lies before Stalin.

England, self-proclaimed knight errant and foe of aggression, declared war on Germany in aid of Poland. America followed Britain's lead. No champion of the Finnish people has arisen so far.

FIDED TO THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN PEOPLES.

Let us be honest with ourselves. The terms of peace sent by Stalin to little Finland are the pattern of Soviet Russia's ultimate terms to Rumania, and throw on the screen what will happen to Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, and to Germany, Italy and the continent.

Stalin is a grim realist. He knows what he wants for Soviet-Russia and he is going after it. He knows that 1944 presents to him the psychological moment and opportunity. He aims at a Communist-Soviet-Russia domination of the European continent.

Who will stop him? Certainly not America and Britain, for they are his allies.

The collapse of Rumania means nothing less than that the Balkans will come into the sphere of Stalin.

PLEASING TO MOSCOW

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden has stated in the House of Commons that defeated countries may expect dismemberment. Nothing would please Moscow more. It begins with Finland. The would-be Smiths trying to forge a super-Versailles "peace of steel" appear to believe only in one power—"force," as exemplified by Soviet-Russia. They ignore what centuries of history has taught; the instincts of freedom, individual and national, justice, equality and human rights, have never long been held down by force.

If the seeds of World War III are planted in the months to come, then God help our children and children's children.

"I was thinkin'..."

by Izzy Ort

Pardon me, southern accent, friends, but right now I'm a real Florida gentleman, playin' my share of gin rummy and digging for new talent. My only regret is that I'm missin' the first appearance of a great new show startin' Monday in me El Tropico Room, which is already famous for da brand of talent which I imports from Broadway. . . . Yers trooly is tickled to death to land for the comin' week setch theatrical spotlight stars as Tony and Dolores, sepiu ballroom dancers, Mary and Lee, Ragdoll artists, Ace Graham, one swell tumbler and acrobat, and Bobby Glen, a new and first class Master of Ceremonies. Natcherly we're holdin' over Curry and Graham, that team of vocal harmonizers who jess can't seem to give enough songs to make the peepul happy. AND, of course, that rare impersonator, Dixie Faye, who'll get more laughs and roars from you than you'd expect to let loose wid for da next three years, and I AIN'T KIDDIN' . . . if you ain't seen Dixie, you got a real entertainment treat comin'!

. . . In me Grille, which is about the favorite afternoon spot fer service men and young folks swing-shiftn' in defense work, and where dancin' starts at noon daily, you'll find dat double banjo act, da Amato Brothers, Vernon and Russel wid their magic and puppets, and other swell acts. Fer a grand time visit me El Tropico Room and Grille, 25 Essex Street. Advt.

Smart Set Plan for Opera

By BETTY ALDEN

DESPITE THE WAR and transportation difficulties Boston femininity is getting ready to present an elaborate pre-war spectacle Easter Monday night when the Metropolitan Opera opens its spring engagement at the Opera House.

Nowadays when our smartest socialites spend practically every waking hour in uniform or the other volunteer service, they are more than ever convinced that when the Opera comes to town it's time to doll up and make the most of the occasion.

The Met opening here is always a brilliant occasion and you can count on the ladies to make it so again this year on the evening of April 10th.

Believing that those who disparage music as a luxury and non-essential in wartime are doing their nation an injury, hundreds of Bostonians have pledged their support to give the city its spring treat of grand opera.

From A (John Moseley Abbott) to Z (Miss Marion Zerb) the list of guarantors includes Mrs. Bartlett Harwood practically all of the Hub's most enthusiastic music patrons. Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Mrs. Robert Saltonstall, Mary Rogers Saltonstall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett Harwood, Mrs. Richard Sears, Mrs. Alexander Steiner, William E. Schrafft, the George H. Swifts, Louis Shaw 2d, Mrs. Louis Frothingham, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Pickman, the Paul Clarks, Thomas Cabot, Ellen Bullard, Lieut.-Comdr. Philip M. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carter, Robert Cutler, and Mrs. Theodore Brown are just a few of the many guarantors.

AMONG THE MANY get-togethers of exhibitors following today's session of the Eastern Dag

Show at the South Amory will be the annual dinner of the Great Dane Club of N. E., at the Hotel Lenox. An unusually large number of Danes are entered this year and C. Cyril Keckler of Ohio, who is here to judge them, will be guest of honor with Mrs. Keckler at tonight's dinner. Guests include Kenneth C. Tiffin, president, and Mrs. Tiffin who are entertaining the Kecklers as house guests; Jonathan Caddell, Katherine Robinson and Mrs. Leonard Melong.

14 TRUK TRIUMPH: 19 Ships, 201 Planes.

Leader

Overall commander of the great U. S. carrier-plane attack on the Jap bastion of Truk was Vice-Adm. Raymond A. Spruance. His aircraft destroyed 201 Jap planes and sank 19 enemy ships.

Doomed

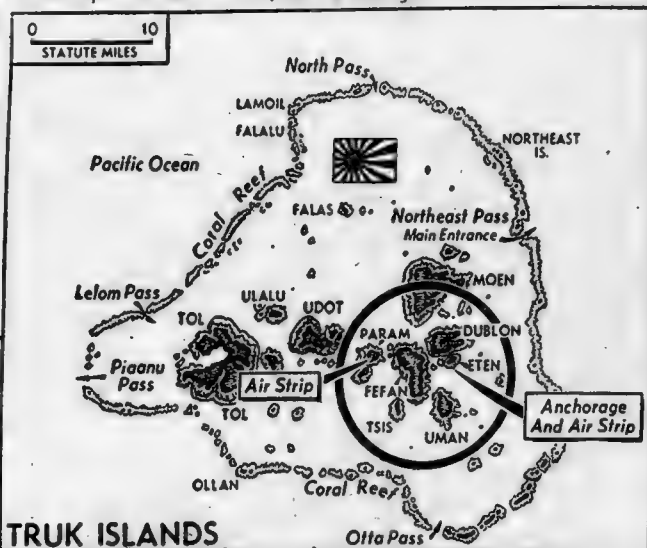

A Jap plane, victim of a Yank flier, heads for destruction . . . just as the 127 shot down at Truk. U. S. raiders destroyed 74 Nip planes on ground.

Caught on Ground—Yank raiders of Truk caught many Jap planes on the ground, destroyed 74 of them, damaged some 50 others.

Destroyer Gets It—This is a Jap destroyer . . . shown being smashed by Yank bombs. Three of these ships were sunk at Truk, another damaged.

The Target—Circled islands of Eten, Fefan, Param, Uman and Dublon were major targets of the Yank aerial raiders who blasted Truk atoll . . . as part payment for Pearl Harbor.

Raiders Score—Among the 19 ships sunk at Truk were two cargo and oilers, a plane tender, a munitions ship. Raid this . . . above.

Direction

The commander of a Russian tank brigade directs his forces by radio . . . during the liquidation of 10 German divisions trapped in the Korsun area. He's in a U.S.-built jeep.

The Tragedy of Finland

THE RUSSIAN TERMS of surrender and peace proposed to Finland, as they have been authoritatively disclosed, leave no doubt of Russian intentions concerning Finland. They are not terms of military surrender, but of national submission and disintegration.

They do not offer peace to Finland as a nation, even as a defeated and conquered nation, but as a SLAVE STATE incorporated within the Soviet Union.

They do not even offer an armistice—a cessation of military operations against the Finns after they have ceased to resist or become incapable of resistance—until ALL THE CITIES OF FINLAND HAVE BEEN OCCUPIED AND GARRISONED BY THE RED ARMY.

The further condition of a cessation of military operations is that a government be established in Finland subject to Russian approval—a puppet government, of course, constituting a SOVIET REGIME.

Russia is clearly intent upon bringing the national existence, the independence and sovereignty and the very identity of Finland to an end.

Russia is brazenly indifferent to what the rest of the civilized world and the democratic nations of the world—including the United States and Great Britain—may think of this procedure.

Russia is completely callous to what the democratic, liberty-loving people of Finland think of it.

RUSSIA IS going to occupy Finland and absorb Finland, and convert Finland into a Soviet Russian possession under a permanent Communist government.

Finland alone is not concerned about this deliberately intended and rapidly materializing situation.

All of Europe is deeply and gravely concerned.

For Russia is not going to stop with occupation and absorption of Finland—with rejection and frustration of all the idealistic aims of democratic nations involved in the present war.

Russia is going to occupy the larger part of Europe as a whole—with frustration of all the magnificent efforts of the democratic nations in this war.

Russia is intent and bent not just on the transfer of democratic Finland to Communism, but on the transfer of all of Europe to Communism.

Russia's program in Finland shows her ability to dominate a sovereign nation, against the interests and ideals of other sovereign nations.

It shows her confidence in her ability to dominate all of Europe.

The Russian attitude is of course a ruthless and arrogant and autocratic attitude.

ALL OF the nations conquered and occupied by Russia are going to be made part of the Russian system; and that will affect all of Europe, not merely the countries adjacent to Russia.

Spain will be Communist, France will be Communist—every nation in continental Europe, with the possible exception of Holland and Belgium, is likely to be Communist.

And while off-shore Britain may succeed in negotiating a non-Communist alliance with Holland and Belgium, as she is presently attempting to do, what can they do against the rest of Europe?

This is the pattern of impending and materializing events in Europe.

Finland seems destined to be the first, but by no means the last, of the sovereign European nations to lose its identity and its very being in this Russian-conceived pattern.

What a travesty it is that American and British statesmen, confronted by the reality and certainty of such a pattern, still talk of the postwar world in terms of the Atlantic Charter, of the Moscow declarations and of the Cairo and Teheran conferences!

The only realists among the United Nations apparently are the Russians.

The greatest opportunists among the United Nations are the Russians.

Certainly all the final and permanent aggressions and occupations and aggrandizements of this war are shaping up as Russian.

Have we slept too long? Will we awaken too late?

More Waste Paper Needed

TO MEET the demands of the current year, not less than 8,000,000 tons of waste paper is required, and the present nation-wide rate of salvage will yield only 6,000,000 tons.

At a recent conference, Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell, chief of the Army service of supply, and Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, urgently appealed to the public for greater support.

"The armed forces," said General Somervell, "cannot do a 100 per cent job with 75 per cent of the materials."

Mr. Nelson presented the problem in another aspect.

He deplored the use of the word "waste" in referring to paper salvage.

Old paper, he said, should be regarded as A RAW MATERIAL which is indispensable in the whole war effort.

If the public understood this definition, it would better appreciate the necessity of salvaging every scrap of paper.

PAPER SALVAGE IS A YEAR-ROUND NECESSITY FOR THE DURATION OF THE WAR.

Our M. & M. Dept. is studying this matter and will report in an early issue . . . What is the largest volunteer army in the world? It is the army of India, which is now 2,000,000 strong and growing at the rate of 60,000 a month. Keep this army in

First man I heard mention it was Henry Ford. Maybe he will make one, too. Q—Isn't the United States the world's best example of a democracy? A—How about Switzerland? Q—For whom was the song, "A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody," written? Wasn't it Hazel Johnson? A—The ditty you refer to was written for the Ziegfeld Follies about 20 years ago and was sung by John Steel. The Miss Johnson you mention is a stranger to me.

I have no rich uncles, cousins or aunts to leave me anything.' Well, in a few days a woman my mother hadn't seen in five years called and paid her $50 she owed her. After my mother recovered from her surprise she said: 'That Eddie Durling sure knows his business.' It came out just as he predicted. My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sunday—Mrs. Henry H. Arnold brought Col. Howard A. Rusk to lunch on Friday. Col. Rusk is under Gen. Grant in charge of the rehabilitation work in the Air Force hospitals. They wanted me to know what they are doing in these hospitals, both to bring these men back in the service and to prepare them, if need be, for return to civilian life, so that I could take the message to wounded boys overseas.

It is a thrilling program, and one wishes it might be carried on in every overseas area so that from the beginning, every wounded boy would know that no matter what his handicap, he would be helped to the greatest possible usefulness.

I THOUGHT OF THIS as I sat waiting to go on a local broadcast at Walter Reed Hospital in the late afternoon Friday. The Treasury Department was awarding a certificate to a patient who had sold the most war bonds. A commercial firm donated its time on the air for this program which has been carried on every afternoon at Walter Reed Hospital. The boys told what had happened to them in the service and then from their beds, they answered the telephone and took orders for bonds.

The first prize, a $500 bond, was won by Corp. Fred Dixon of Macon, Ga. He has lost both legs. He told me he used to be an electrician, and that he was going to take advantage of every bit of training the government could give him so he would have a better job in the future.

PVT. CHARLES GOODMAN and Pvt. Jack Indictor, who won the second and third prizes, sold many bonds also.

We had two boys from the naval hospital at dinner Friday night, besides other friends, and then we saw the movie which tells the story of Madame Curie's life. It is a wonderful picture, and I hope it will be shown to every boy who has a fight to make, either in the hospital or in the field.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21—The most completely fascinating story I have heard is Edgar Bergen's original, "The Life of Charlie McCarthy."

He starts with his own boyhood in Decatur, Mich., when as an usher in the theater he read a book on ventriloquism and in the privacy of his own room practiced the art that was later to make Charlie McCarthy a household word.

I supposed, of course, that Edgar was going to follow in the footsteps of a lot of us and have his memoirs published. But two of the major studios got wind of his original and offered him a young fortune to put it on the screen. I happen to know which studios but, being a woman of my word, I cannot breathe the names. I'll bet Edgar publishes his book later.

HERE'S NEWS: Mary Pickford will not make "Junior Miss." She has called off the deal on the advice of her representative, Noel Gurney. Gurney said: "We were perfectly willing to pay the $500,000 asked and the additional money, but we were not willing to tie up our company's funds, which they requested before they would release the film rights. Miss Pickford and I figured there is no play, no matter how good, worth tying up an entire motion picture company, so we will not make it. David Selznick has wanted to buy "Junior Miss," but whether or not he will be willing to meet this price is a moot question, since he is a member of the United Artists Company to which Mary belongs."

LAST WEEK I saw Anita Loos in New York. Today I saw her in Hollywood. She has come back to accept an assignment from Joseph Schenck to write an original story for Dorothy McGuire—a "Claudia" yarn which William Perlberg is producing. Anita is smiling these days—and plenty. And I don't think I am talking out of school when I say the reason is Marion Kendricks, in charge of the news end of the Associated Press. Marion is out here to write some stories and to see Anita. They were together everywhere in New York and neither one would have to be cross-examined to admit it is the real thing.

DARRYL ZANUCK has the memory of an elephant. It was at least 25 years ago that Mal St. Clair, the director, played the part of the German crown prince in an old Mack Sennett comedy, "Yankee Doodle in Berlin." Well, Mal is now on the 20th lot getting ready to megaphone a Laurel and Hardy movie and the other day when St. Clair went in to huddle with the boss, Zanuck said: "You're just the man!" "Just the man for what?" asked the puzzled director. "To play Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm in 'Wilhelm'!" replied Darryl. So presto—the role is cast! This time, of course, Mal will be serious and not play a comic.

I AM NOT SURPRISED, and I'll bet you're not either, that Walter Pidgeon is going to play "Gus" opposite Greer Garson in "Mrs. Tarkington." Both Greer and Walter felt they should take a little movie vacation from each other after making four movies together in two years. For awhile there was talk that Brian Donlevy or Ward Bond would play the rough-and-ready "Gus"—self-made millionaire. But the fans love the team of Garson and Pidgeon, who will soon be as inseparable as ham 'n' eggs, so who am I to say that they are making too many movies together?

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOLPH: Nelda Harrigan, Walter Connolly's widow, will wed Lieut. Josh Logan, stage director, now stationed in London; John Gunther, according to one of our scouts, is finding Joan Thorsen good company in Las Vegas, where both are living for the usual six weeks duration; Rita Hayworth, looking rather pensive, lunching all by her little self at the Derby; Bob Hope is down with the flu. Dolores had planned a dinner to celebrate their tenth wedding anniversary, but at the last minute called it off; Susanna Foster is a smart girl. In view of the housing shortage she's now living in her Universal dressing room; Capt. Louis Hayward continues to be very ill in a military hospital; the Jay Palays gave a dinner for Mike Todd, who leaves for New York tomorrow; Frank Sinatra has been taken into the Lakeside Golf Club, where Bing Crosby is the champ. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Lamb Plus Dressing

By MARTHA LEE

A CHUCK OR SHOULDER roast of lamb is delicious, juicy meat whether it is boned or roasted with the bone in. Whichever choice is made, a bread dressing to serve with the meat will extend it in the best victory fashion. A boned roast has a cavity which can be sewed on two sides to make a pocket which will hold the dressing. When bread dressing is cooked in the meat, it is called a stuffing.

If the roast is not boned, it is still possible to serve dressing with the meat. However, a dressing baked outside the meat will need more moisture than a stuffing. Bake the dressing in a separate pan in the oven while the meat is roasting. It will require from 45 minutes to 1 hour in a slow (300 deg. F.) oven, to become done. Stuffing in the meat, of course, cooks the same length of time as does the meat.

Stuffing

Have the bones removed from a square-cut lamb shoulder. Use the bones to make a meat stock for soup. Sew roast on two sides. This leaves one side open to insert stuffing. Season the shoulder, inside and outside, with salt and pepper. Fill the pocket in the roast with any desired stuffing and sew or skewer the open edges together. Place roast, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Do not cover, do not add water. Roast in a slow oven (300 deg. F.), allowing 30 to 35 minutes per pound for well-done lamb.

One hour before meat is done, peel one medium-sized potato for each person, brush the surface with drippings and place on the rack next to the meat to bake. Allow more time for large potatoes.

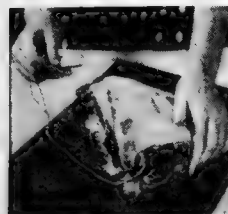

To give added value and flavor and to prevent soggy, fat is an essential ingredient in dressings and stuffings. Meat drippings or rendered fat are best, since they extend the meat flavor. Some women lay strips of bacon over a bread dressing baked in a separate pan.

There are many stuffings or dressings that would be delicious with a shoulder roast of lamb. Something a little unusual is this recipe for spinach stuffing which is suggested for a boned, "cushion style" roast. Remember to add moisture to dressing if it is baked in a separate pan.

SPINACH STUFFING

1 cups flaked bread crumbs
2 cups finely chopped spinach
6 tsp. drippings
2 tsp. chopped celery
3 tsp. chopped onion
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper

Use dry, yet soft, bread for crumbs. Chop fresh spinach finely. Pack tightly in cup to measure. Melt three tablespoons drippings in frying pan, add celery and onion, cook several minutes, add finely-chopped spinach and other seasonings. Push this mixture to one side of frying pan. Add remaining drippings and

Grand Oily-Skin Cleanser

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

BEAUTY IS OF TWO KINDS, a noted beautician wisely says. One kind is a gift... like being born to the purple... or coming into the world with a silver spoon in your mouth. The other kind is something you work for... don't we all... like a determined little hero in an Horatio Alger book.

Nobody cares a whit which kind of beauty you have... as long as you have it... and it is entrancing to the eye. If you have to win beauty the hard way... by steady and unrelenting toil... don't fret... extra compensations will await you... such as strength of will... faith in yourself... and an awareness of command.

All of which... I hold... will add to the serenity of your gaze... the proud stance of your head... and the superb poise of your body. For if beauty's worth having... it is worth striving for.

And, no greater satisfaction awaits any woman than the gratification of having gained a clear and beautiful skin... not an illusion... but a cherished, flesh-blood beauty reflected in your mirror.

If you envision yourself as the coolest pair of eyes envision you as you saunter by... you will get that objective appraisal of your good points... as well as the disqualifying features or defects that mar your hoped-for attractiveness. And once you've mastered the objective viewpoint... half the battle is won. All that remains is... to grit your teeth... push up your sleeves... and go to work.

So... let's see. Do you spout oil wells on your face? Do your nose, forehead and chin... the center avenues of your face... show an acting up of oil glands... giving you no end of discomfort because you can't cream your face into cleanliness?

WILL LEAVE SKIN VELVET SOFT

Take heart... There is a liquid emulsion... with a poetic tag name... that I heartily recommend for your skin condition. It has the viscosity of sweet cream... and none of the waxy, greasy ingredients that lard a skin already oiled. It is a cleanser par excellence for this particular type.

If you shudder at the thought of heavy creams... and if soap and water leaves the rest of your face as rough as a dish towel... this all day cleanser is for you... with either a sensitive or an oil skin. It is so easy to apply and so soothing to remove. It will leave your skin velvety soft and gentle to the touch. And it tissues off so smoothly, it is amazing.

Minimize the flow by blotting up the excess oil... and don't let it pop up like the bad fairy at the feast to spoil your makeup... and flood your face with unpredictable shine. This liquid emulsion has astrigent qualities which should be like... manna from heaven for your face.

For the name of this oily-skin cleanser, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the weekend, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Where They Salute

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: To settle an argument, will you please tell me whether or not it is customary for men in the Service to exchange salutes in a church or in a theater? M. R. Salutes are not exchanged in churches, theaters (for other places of public assemblage), or in public conveyances.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:—My husband and I are planning to give a dinner to announce the engagement of our daughter. Whom should we invite to this dinner?

C. A. The members of the two immediate families should be invited; that is, all who are "available." Then, if convenient and if your dinner-budget permits, any of the intimate friends of your daughter and her fiancé.

"I BELIEVE"... Any gal taking these two words as her beauty creed... will go after an oil-exuding skin with an embattled glint in her eyes... for she knows that such a condition is an indictment of self-neglect... and she will use a poetically-tagged liquid emulsion to give her skin an all-day glamorization. Gorgeous Linda Darnell may look like a clairvoyant... but it doesn't take a crystal ball to tell you her skin is the kind any gal could envy.

Sailors Back for Spring

By BETTINA BEDWELL

WHILE sailors are not the big headlines news they were in past years, we are to have them as usual. I mean sailor hats, of course.

The sailor, this spring, is likely to be a glorified item in the millinery styles, replete with parade-ground glitter and binding color schemes. One of the most fanciful sailor hats I have seen is the one that Florence Reichman is sponsoring. She makes her sailor of humble gingham, in bright kitchen-checked patterns, and then she overlays this homely material with glittering sequin embroidery.

Miss Dulin has sketched one of the gingham sailors from Florence Reichman. Made of red and white checked gingham it has a pattern of black sequins and black satin streamers.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—Here are three letters from the Kilgallen mailbox:

"Dear Bobby-Sox Kilgallen: You gave your readers a good idea of yourself when you said Sinatra is your favorite singer. I imagine, though, the money he pays you to say such things helps. Did you scream when you saw him in 'Higher and Higher'? The movie critics screamed, too, that it is strictly for the small fry and his singing sounded like a funeral dirge."

"So, Dorothy, why don't you break the contract with Sinatra and tell the truth about what you really think of him."

"A CROSBY FAN."

"Dear Voice of Broadway: Thank you, Dorothy! Thank you VERY much! I've been a Kilgallen fan ever since you made news round-the-worlding . . . but a paragraph in this morning's Pittsburgh Post-Gazette drives me to put it down on paper."

"I mean the one in which you said that it's fun for you to listen to the squeals of fervent Sinatra fans. I've been meaning to write myself psychoanalyzed, because the general adult reaction to same seems to be disgust."

And there, you, my favorite newspaperwoman, comes right out and tells the circulation that she gets a kick out of swooners. Relieves my mind."

"How'd you like to take time off from such lush beaneries as the Stork Club for a night? We could pack a small lunch and head for the Sinatra broadcast. With enough time and trouble, we could probably even head off the harpies for a front-row seat."

"Best wishes. "GERRY S."

"Dear Miss Kilgallen: Speaking for himself and for my disgusted friends, I want to inform you that we have fully analyzed your column and have arrived at the conclusion that your column is very much prejudiced against a certain individual; in fact, it is prejudiced almost to an asinine degree. My dear Miss Kilgallen, as sure as you are living, your destructive criticism of Mr. Sinatra will lose you many of your very few readers."

"Truthfully, I believe that you have used the magical name of Sinatra merely to attract the attention of intelligent people (like me) who ordinarily would not even give your column a cursory glance. It so happens that I heard someone fuming about your review of Sinatra, so I decided to look into the matter."

"You have been so engrossed with, literally speaking, tearing Mr. Sinatra apart that you have forgotten that we live in a democracy where people can croon and swoon as, when, where and how they please."

"Maybe if you put this in your column (as I challenge you to do) it will win back some of your bond-buying, 'bobby-sox' readers."

"Sinatrally yours, "ANITA E."

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21—Claudette Colbert is playing a scene for "Practically Yours," and, in a way, Marlene Dietrich is in this picture, also.

The scene is a broadcasting studio and Miss Colbert, attired in a very attractive fur coat, is reading her lines for Director Mitchell Leisen. Miss Colbert is the only player in this sequence, and if you're wondering about Marlene Dietrich, I'm getting to her.

Director Mitch Leisen is a man who just "reeks with class," and every actress in his pictures must look as if she just stepped out of the pages of a fashion magazine. Or, to try and put it better, she must look as if she's ready to step into the pages of a fashion magazine. For Director Leisen doesn't wait for the fashions, he creates them. He designs dresses, coats, gowns, even slacks.

When it became necessary for Claudette Colbert to be dressed very swanky for this scene, Director Leisen couldn't find a fur coat that pleased him. He had ransacked the wardrobe department, and he had searched some of the leading stores, but there was no fur coat that pleased Director Leisen. Nothing reeked of enough class for him.

Finally, he said, "I've got it, Lana Turner is doing a rumba for a scene in 'Marriage Is A Private Affair,' and the set is crowded. Besides the usual crew and the band, which is not being photographed in the scene, the set is jammed with writers, directors and producers who managed to learn that Lana is doing a rumba, and just happened to drop in."

Lana doesn't object to the visitors, in fact, she appears to like them. It probably seems like the Palladium to her, except that now she has the floor to herself.

Director Bob Leonard gives the signal. The off-camera orchestra starts to play, and Lana's hips weave to and fro. Cameraman Ray June watches his crew as they move the heavy camera back and forth following the intricate steps. Lana gives a kick of her heels and goes into a final whirl, and June turns to his crew: "Good," he says.

Director Bob Leonard says, "Whatta' you mean 'good'—I'd say that was terrific."

And who do you think beat the drums for Lana's rumba? None other than Mickey Rooney who sneaked over from the "National Velvet" set.

Dr. Hedgoc is a minister.

Claudette, I've got it. Just the coat for you. It's a dear. It's a coat I designed several seasons ago for Marlene Dietrich. I'm certain she'll let me borrow it for the picture."

And that's how Marlene Dietrich is associated with Claudette Colbert in "Practically Yours."

EDWARD G. ROBINSON is playing the role of a soldier, a private, in "Mr. Winkle Goes To War," and on the set the other performers and extras call him "G. I." Robinson.

The set is a canteen, and while Director Al Green is lining up his camera, "G. I." is talking to me and a couple of extras. "It'll tell you a story about an actress and Albert Einstein," said "G. I."

"Who's the actress?" I asked.

"That I can't tell you," replied "G. I." "It wouldn't be fair. But you've got Einstein—that's a name for you."

LANA TURNER is doing a rumba for a scene in "Marriage Is A Private Affair," and the set is crowded. Besides the usual crew and the band, which is not being photographed in the scene, the set is jammed with writers, directors and producers who managed to learn that Lana is doing a rumba, and just happened to drop in.

What to Do With Japan

By George E. Sokolsky

IT WAS at a very stimulating meeting of the Overseas Press Club that the question of what to do with Japan after the war was discussed with fervor and expertness by Jimmy Young, John Goette, H. G. W. Woodhead, Gen. Yakhontoff, H. J. Timperly, Randall Gould, Bruno Shaw and one or two others.

It stands to reason that anyone who had ever been in a Japanese prison camp, as some of the debaters had been, would want to tear the hide off every Japanese. Japanese jails and concentration camps are not governed by Christian charity or human kindness and the incarcerated brings forth a hatred, once he is free. Those who had not experienced this ordeal argued with perhaps scientific detachment. Mind you, all these folks knew what they were talking about, the degree of vengeance in their souls being determined by the measure of cruelty they had personally experienced.

NONE OF THEM, however, quite emphasized the point enough that the job now is not to settle the Japanese problems by discussion but by war. If a war is sufficiently effective, the problem settles itself. For instance, one of the very grave concerns among these gentlemen is what to do with the Emperor of Japan. Some of them fear that the State Department will save him. They desire that it be decided here and now that the Emperor is to be treated as a war criminal.

This is undoubtedly typical of the fallacy of long-distance planning on minor issues. I say long-distance because these gentlemen ranged their prognostications on how long the Japanese war would last from 3 to 15 years, which is an awful long distance.

For instance, how can anyone know what, even three years from now, the State Department policy will be when, as the fact stands, the entire Administration may be changed in less than a year from now? And then again, it may not be. We can therefore altogether with advantage skip this argument until after the presidential election, at which time it will be possible, and even within probability, that we might know what we are talking about.

THEN, OF COURSE, when, if and as we achieve a victory over the Japanese, it might be—and I hope it will be—so complete and final that the Emperor will go to his ancestors without our aid. That will dispose of the issue without further debate.

Again, it is possible that when we shall have wracked the Japanese with gunfire and bombings, they might rise up and slaughter their militarists and bureaucrats and politicians all on their own.

The point was made that the Emperor was a myth or the symbol of a myth and that we should prove that to the Japanese people. I considered that a particularly unfruitful proposal because nothing is so fanatically believed as myths which persist long after the most rational evidence is proved unreasonable. We live by common sense, but give our lives for the myths of our race. No one can prove that a myth is a myth and not an inspiration from heaven. I listened to a man attempt it the other night on altogether another question but no matter how much anthropology he presented as indisputable fact, he failed to justify his rejection of a visible fact which everyone but he saw, namely, that he was battling for the myths of the others whom he rejected as a myth.

I therefore suggest that we lay off bothering about proving to the Japanese that the Emperor is a myth and that we get on with the business of proving to them that American arms are not a myth. The Japanese people have, as yet, had no real contact with American arms—and the more they do sooner, the more they will know of the facts of life.

Monday, Feb. 21, 1944

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—You are an Aquarius-Pisces cuspical, born on the cusp of the two signs, and take characteristics from both signs, though stronger influence is of Pisces. Among assets: Quiet industriousness, intellectuality, kindness, honesty. Guard against being fooled by wrong type of individuals. Heed advice of people qualified to give it and who heed their conscience. Your imagination would serve well in a literary or scientific field. You can succeed at anything if you'll acquire more confidence and push. Birthdate of: John Henry Newman, English Catholic cardinal and famous writer; Ann Sheridan, the screen actress.

NEW SCREEN STAR COMING

Cute, redheaded Marcy McGuire, a distaff Mickey Rooney, will co-star with Charlie Spivak and his orchestra in the new stage show opening at the RKO Boston on Thursday.

Marcy, who has freckles and sparkling brown eyes, sings, dances and makes with the comedy. She is, in fact, one of the screen's first young comediennesses, as she proved in "Higher and Higher," the Jack Haley-Michèle Morgan starring picture which introduced Frank Sinatra to filmgoers.

Spivak, as you must know, plays the world's sweetest trumpet, features sweet, hot and rhythmic music and is himself famous for his muted trumpet solos. Before he organized his own orchestra, he was the highest paid free-lance player in the country.

Boston's own Wesson Brothers and Ray English, dancing comedians, are importantly spotted in the new stage show.

IN LOVE AGAIN—
Deanna Durbin surpasses herself in her newest starring picture for Universal, "His Butler's Sister," which is holding over a second smash week on Keith Memorial screen.
Franchot Tone, her romantic interest hero, and Pat O'Brien, the butler of the title, are co-starred with her.

26 'Guess I Slowed Down,' Says Dodds After 4:08

By HUCK FINNEGAN

GIL DODDS would like a shot at Greg Rice's two-mile indoor record of 8:51.1; Jack Ryder seconds the motion, believing his protégé would wipe the record off the books, but what's a fellow going to do when promoters and fans insist he stick to the mile?

Dodds beat Hulse by 25 yards in the Hunter Mile and with no Hulse in the Baxter won going away by half a lap. It would seem then that the mile would be a better race without him, that promoters would heed his request and let him run the longer route. But no.

"Ass Bushnell wants him to run an exhibition mile in the ICA-A meet on March 4, and Bill Brennan insists he run the Colombian mile in the New York KC meet," said Ryder today as he laid plans for Gil to crack the mile record at the AAU championships Saturday.

Gil Dodds

"I can understand why after watching Saturday's race," Ryder continued. "Fans knew Gil would walk away with the race, yet they are so record-conscious they seemed to get more enjoyment out of it than they would from a thrilling finish."

FANS DISAPPOINTED

"When his time for the quarter (58.6) was announced, the fans sensed a record and started whooping it up. When the half was reached in 1:59.7, and the three-quarters in 3:03.3, their cheering rocked the building. They had visions of a 4:08 mile. I never heard such noise before. And the deep groan when they learned he had missed the record by only a fraction of a second." (Gil did 4:08. Record is 4:07.4.)

Bushnell and Brennan think they'll see that 4:06 mile this winter because they not only expect Hulse back but plan to have speedy Johnny Fulton in the field as well. If they can press Dodds all the way...

Dinger Dussault thought Dodds had a 4:05 mile until the last lap. "I never saw such an exhibition of power in all my life," said the Tufts coach. "Good runners like Rudy Simms were ripping their hearts out, yet actually seemed to be going backwards. After the race Gil handed Jack (Ryder) his medal and said: 'Gee, I guess I slowed down.' He was dead serious, too. Imagine 'slowing down' and doing a 4:08 mile."

Drake Does 49.2

Dodds will be given the J. mes E. Sullivan Award at Sunday New York AC dinner. Herb McKenley was nipped at the tape by Jim Herbert in the Buermeyer 500 after leading all the way. It was a fine effort for his big time debut, and he's been invited to the AAU and NYKC 600's. Ted Vogel of Tufts ran unattached and showed his ring rust by finishing fourth in the two-mile run. Vogel's last start was Jan. 9 at Dartmouth. For the third week in a row, Tufts' mile relay was victorious. Times: Southwick 53.3, Smith 53.7.

Palmieri 51.8 and Drake 49.2, best of the year. Drake is an unpublicized standout. He did 50.1 at the BAA meet against Williams. He's a Dorchester boy who prepared at Boston Latin and will receive his Naval commission March 15. That means he'll be around for the ICA-A's.

Incidentally, Dussault thinks Army will romp off with the indoor ICA-A title. Three of its pole vaulters finished "in the money" in the NYAC meet, two of its dashmen reached the semifinals. Anderson placed in the hurdles, Berger in the 500. Dussault thinks NYU's Rudy Simms "will be another of those 4:10 milers like MacMitchell and Dixon before his senior year." Simms is only a freshman, competing in big time for the first season. Gil Dodds delivered sermons in New York and Providence before returning to Boston. New York fans booed Joe Nowicki for crowding Fulton in the 880. Reason: Nowicki's a giant, Fulton a slim little lad of 145 pounds with a deformed left arm.

What'll BC Do?

Question of the day: How can Boston College, Northeastern, Rhode Island State, Bowdoin, Maine and sundry colleges keep going when the Army withdraws its ASTP students? There are only 280 undergrads at BC and the mortality rate is about 15 a day with boys entering the service. BC had planned to hold spring football practice. Now its plans are in mid-air. BU will be hard hit, too, but the co-eds may keep the university alive.

Dog Show Opens At South Armory

The 32d annual Eastern Dog Club show will open at the South Armory, Irvington st., Back Bay, today for a two-day standing during which a total of 900 dogs of 76 breeds will compete for honors. The show is being held for the benefit of Dogs for Defense, official agency for the procurement of dogs for service with the armed services.

Judging in the various breeds will begin at 10 o'clock this morning and will continue until about 10 p. m. The program will be resumed Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock and the six variety groups will be judged in the afternoon and early evening. The best dog in the show will be selected as the fillet about 10 p. m. Tuesday night. Bethune Larratt Smith of Toronto, noted Canadian dog expert, will make the selection and will also name the best American-bred entry.

The foremost kennels in the country will be represented at the show and the competition promises to be keen since many famous champions will be in the race for honors. Among the leading contenders will be at least three former champions.

Ross Protests Defeat, Says Leaf Ineligible

By BILL GRIMES

There's supposed to be a rule which bars all servicemen from participating in any N. H. L. game. But Bud Poile, who was washed out of the RCAF and is transferring to the army, was in the Maple Leaf lineup Saturday night against the Bruins in Toronto and also played last night against the Blackhawks in Chicago.

BOTH REAL STARS—Alice Jeanne McGee, Ice Follies Queen, and Pfc. Wallace Shipstad, wounded brother of the promoters, happy over the success of the Record-American-Advertiser disabled veterans matinee.

Manager Art Ross, whose Bruins dropped two games over the weekend, will enter a protest with Managing Director Red Dutton because of Toronto's infringement on a supposedly hard and set rule.

LEAFS IN BIG GAIN

The Maple Leafs hung a 10 to 4 defeat on the Rossman Saturday night, during which Bud Poile scored four goals. And, last night, Toronto played a scoreless tie with the Black Hawks. As a result of their weekend games, the Maple Leafs gained three points and are six points out in front of the deadlocked Boston and Chicago clubs.

Tommie Gorman brought Terry Reardon here last spring to play for the Flying Frenchmen against the Bruins in the first round of the Stanley Cup play downs. At that time, Reardon was transferring from one branch of the Canadian army to another. He was on a 72-hour pass. Gorman's claim was that while he was in the process of transferring, Reardon was NOT in service. Ross protested and was upheld by Lester Patrick and Bill McBrien, who were representing the N. H. L. Reardon didn't play.

REKINDLE FEUD

One week from tomorrow night, the Toronto Maple Leafs will make their fifth and final appearance at the Boston Garden against the Bruins. The Poile incident will be the means of rekindling the old Boston-Toronto feud.

Over the weekend Les Canadiens ran their total number of points to 63 by winning both ends of a home and home series from Rangers. With each club having only 11 games to play, the Flying Frenchmen are nine full games in front of the Detroit Red Wings. The Blackhawks are having a tough time trying to win a game. They haven't been awarded a verdict this month, during which they have lost two to the Bruins and one to Canadiens and have been tied by Rangers, Toronto and the Canucks.

The Blackhawks-Maple Leafs tie last night must have been a pink tea. There wasn't a goal scored nor did Referee Bill Chadwick hand out a penalty. The N. H. L. race is getting to the stage where the clubs which are in danger of getting eased out of the playoffs are satisfied to divide the points.

The Bruins will not play another N. H. L. game until they tackle Les Canadiens Saturday night in Montreal. But they are scheduled to play a charity exhibition game in Ottawa Thursday and they will not return home until after they play the Canucks.

Giants Pick Trout Camp in Tennessee

BRISTOL, Tenn.-Va., Feb. 21 (AP)—New York Giants have selected Bristol as the site of a mass trout camp for young players who are gunning this season for places on the Giants' three Class D clubs, Carl Hubbell, field director, announced after he and other Giants officials had visited Shaw Field here and conferred with directors of the Bristol club of the Appalachian League.

The trout camp will be launched on Friday, April 14, and will be under the supervision of Hubbell, Rickey and Deberry.

Follies--Thank You--For Vets' Fund Gift

To the Mistresses Shipstad and Johnson—Eddie, Roy and Oscar and to the Boston Garden in general, the Daily Record-Evening American-Sunday Advertiser pay tribute for their generous offering to the Disabled and Ailing Veterans Fund, which was the entire proceeds of the matinee performance of the Ice Follies last Saturday.

And to the crowd of 12,893 that jammed their way into this performance we also say thanks for contributing to the fund, $19,092.42—the largest individual contribution the fund has received since its birth late last year.

This is a wonderful start toward a new high for bigger and better gifts to be distributed among the sick and disabled—everyone of them—hospitalized in this area.

A year ago more than 17,000 disabled and sick were given certificates valued at $5 as Christmas gifts through contributions from sporting and theatrical events. It helped in no small way to make it a Merry Christmas for these men. It did so much good that the Record-American-Advertiser immediately set out to make sure that there will always be a Merry Christmas for these heroes if they are hospitalized here, no matter where else their home may be.

BEST EVER

The Ice Follies people went all out to help this fund. The Shipstads and Johnson said: "This will be the greatest performance of the Ice Follies," when they looked out at the Garden throng.

Everywhere they go people speak of the "Happy Family" the Ice Follies is. Well, that is because there are fellows like Eddie and Roy Shipstad and Oscar Johnson at the head of the family.

Yes, you'll travel many long and lean paths to find the equals of these three genis.

There are still many performances of the Ice Follies left. There are shows every night until the 28th. There are matinees Saturday and Sunday and the show is deserving of a full house at every performance.

So great has been the demand to see this edition of the Follies that it was necessary to add a performance on the evening of the 28th—a COMMAND PERFORMANCE.

Third Shutout

CLEVELAND, Feb. 21 (AP)—Goalender Paul Gauthier recorded his third shutout of the season as the Cleveland Barons routed the Indianapolis Capitals 6 to 0 in an American Hockey League game before 9898 here.

Nazi Loss

A German submarine rears its bow before sliding under the Bay of Biscay... after it was blasted by a British Sunderland flying boat. Survivors of the sub can be seen in water at bottom right.

Retired

The Liberator "Blue Streak" comes into Miami from Naples... honorably retired after 110 missions in 20 months. Among her crew are (front left) Lieut. Jose Feliz, Jr., of New Bedford and (beside Feliz) Lieut. W. E. Hakinen of Gardner.
